

Institutional repositories for

RLO's & OER's

A Repository is a virtual facility for the deposit of academic publications, such as academic journal articles and Learning Objects

A repository established by a particular university or other research institution is known as an institutional repository

MORE INFO →

The repositories of educational resources are a sustainable system to share knowledge amongst members of an academic community.

National and international RLO's and OER's institutional repositories

Xpert

Narcis

Jorum

Intute

OER Commons

Temoa

Ariadne

Merlot

Some reflections

How can Open Educational resources be used to support learning?

How can resources be reused within a range of educational models?

Is global sharing of resources a possibility?

