During this webinar Mr Szekacs will present and discuss the issues, related to ICT procurement, that public administrations usually deal with and how the Joinup platform can provide help in solving them.

Szabolcs is currently responsible for the administrative management of the ISA Programme (<http://ec.europa.eu/isa>) of the European Commission. In addition, he is managing the OSOR.eu project: the goal of the project is to facilitate the sharing and re-use of open source solutions by public administrations in Europe, by providing a virtual meeting place and repository to share best practices and OS applications. Finally, he is responsible for the establishment and maintenance of the catalogue of interoperability solutions on Joinup.

Remember also that the Community Open Standards for ICT Procurement is the main tool to learn from others and to share your experiences. If you haven't registered yet, take the chance to do it now!

In addition, if you are interested in procuring ICT on the basis of standards you might want to take part in the workshop “Open ICT Standards for public procurement - Fostering Interoperability” taking place in Brussels on November 13th. Click here to know more: <http://bit.ly/1YTBhfh>

Stay tuned for more information on future initiatives!
