Running from January to December 2025, the INVEST project has brought together ten European partner organisations from seven Member States to support the implementation of the Interoperable Europe Act and strengthen cross-border interoperability across the EU. The project has focused on developing governance models, providing testing frameworks, and fostering collaboration between sectors and countries.

Through consultations, research, and community engagement and with the support of national public authorities, innovation and digital public services experts, INVEST has created a strategic roadmap and an implementation plan for the provision of interoperable cross border digital public services in the European Union.

The project has conducted a comprehensive analysis and identified synergies with major EU digital initiatives and national programmes, ensuring alignment, reducing duplication, and promoting resource efficiency. It has also carried out an in-depth assessment of existing GovTech solutions, examining their integration, impact and scalability within public administrations, and identifying best practices and opportunities for further adoption.

INVEST has proposed a Regulatory Sandbox Framework to enable the controlled testing of emerging technologies in the public sector, and developed a Stakeholder Engagement and Collaboration Plan informed by interviews with experts from 25 Member States.

These results lay the groundwork for a more seamless, connected and user-centric public sector.
